SENATORS ASK F. D. R. TO MAKE PEACE GESTURE

Wheeler and Lundeen In Favor Of Immediate European Conference

SENATOR NORRIS AGAINST PROPOSAL

Nebraska Legislator Says Such A Step Would Be Useless

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—A resolution that President Roosevelt immediately to bring about a European peace conference came from Senators Wheeler (D-Mont.) and Lundeen (FL-Minn.). Senator Norris (Ind-Nebr.) declared that such a step "would be useless."

Wheeler and Lundeen, foes of the administration neutrality bill, told the Senate that the present was an opportune time for Mr. Roosevelt to make a peace bid. They argued that such a step would be virtually impossible to carry out.

Norris, supporter of the administration bill and the only present senator who cast a senate vote against America's entry into the war, said:

"Doubts Hitler's Sincerity"

"Any fair judge at a peace conference would have to say to Hitler: 'Give Poland and Czechoslovakia back to their peoples.' If Hitler were sincere, he would consent to such a proposal, but I wouldn't give a word for anything on earth if I don't believe he would even think of it."

"It would be fine for the President to suggest peace on those terms if Hitler would consider it, but he wouldn't, and it would be a waste of time to ask him to."

Wheeler, leader of the successful fight against the President's court-packing plan, took this position: "Mr. Hitler is saying that he wants peace. Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Daladier are saying that they want peace. It seems to me that the President could very well say to Mr. Hitler: 'If you want peace, will you make peace and at the conference table let the question of Poland and Czechoslovakia be decided?'"

If the answer were affirmative, he could say to Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Daladier: 'Mr. Hitler will consent to a peace in which the integrity of Poland and Czechoslovakia is to be considered. Will you consider a revamping of the Versailles treaty?'"

Views Are Similar

Lundeen expressing similar views, declared that "it is always in order to suggest an end to war."

"I don't think we ought to try to guarantee any European boundaries," he declared, "but if they could get together around a conference table it would at least be a chance for peace."

Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), who recently proposed recessing Congress in order to give the President a free hand to negotiate for peace, said he was afraid "that the opportunity for the President to pass it would be lost."

He added, however, that he would support action on his proposal if it appeared to be any chance that peace efforts by Mr. Roosevelt might be successful.

Palestine Motorist Accquired By Jury

LISBON, Oct. 19.—A jury, deliberating 45 minutes, this morning found Leonard Holman, 19, of East Palestine, not guilty of second degree manslaughter. The trial opened Wednesday morning.

Holman was indicted by the September grand jury following the death of Maurice Sorg of Pittsburgh in a collision involving Holman's car and another operated by James Pritchard of Pittsburgh, who also is under indictment on a similar charge.

OHIO DEMOCRATS STRESS HARMONY

John Nolan To Entertain Party Members At Steubenville

STEUBENVILLE, Oct. 19.—Ohio Democrats met today in a sort of unofficial state convention and found that they must obtain harmony at almost any cost.

The occasion was the 15th annual party of John Fidelis Nolan, the "little Napoleon of eastern Ohio Democracy," who has a record tenure of 25 years as Jefferson county's Democratic chairman.

Approximately 2,500 of the party faithful will be guests of the Steubenville attorney tonight.

Nolan agreed that the Democrats need harmony such as they have not needed since the fearful split of 1914 when Harvey Garber organized the true Democracy league of Ohio, and James M. Cox lost the race for governor.

Nolan was taking cognizance of a situation which finds eight persons as possible seekers of Democratic nomination for governor — former Governors George White, Vic Donahay and Martin L. Davey; Herbert S. Duffy, former attorney general; William J. Kennedy, former secretary of state; Charles Sawyer, the standard bearer last year; John McSweeney, former congressman-at-large; and Walter Herr, Franklin county Democratic leader.

"There is no doubt that harmony is the biggest question," Nolan said. "We can sweep the state if we get it."

Put Party First

He asserted that the Democrats "should subordinate personal ambitions for the sake of the party — and I mean myself, Davey, Sawyer, or anyone else."

Nolan said he believed the harmony problem would be eliminated in one stroke if U. S. Senator Donahay could be persuaded to run for governor. Many Democrats share his viewpoint.

The prospect of this development, however, is not bright for Nolan hears that President Roosevelt is trying to persuade the three-time former governor to run for senator again.

Donahay and Sawyer will be kept away from the banquet by important business, but Davey, Kennedy and Duffy will be here.

Other party leaders coming include Arthur L. Limbach, state Democratic chairman; Francis Poulson, former chairman; Joseph T. Ferguson, state auditor; Clarence Kinsley, member of the industrial commission; Charles West, former political contact man for President Roosevelt; Ann Makley, former president of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio; and Mrs. Myrna Smith, Davey's former secretary.

More than 5,000 persons attended Nolan's party last year.

BERLIN CLAIMS FRENCH TROOPS OFF NAZI SOIL

Retreat Of Army Is Reported Today By German High Command

SCOPE OF WAR IS MINIMIZED

Short, But Bitter Fighting Reported; French Take Initiative

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—The German high command announced today that the first phase of the war in the west had ended with complete withdrawal of French troops from German soil following short but bitter fighting.

This action, a communique said, had pushed the French rear guard across the border between the Saar river and the Hornbach-Eitche road.

In other sectors of the western front, the communique said, there was only local artillery and patrol activity.

Contact with the enemy in several places was broken, it was added, because German troops did not cross the border in following up the French withdrawal.

War Scope Minimized

The whole tone of the communique was to minimize the scope of the war to date—in size of engagements, in territory involved and in casualties—and to emphasize in effect that the front lines now were the peace-time boundaries.

What war there had been on the western front it laid to French initiative, and an unwillingness by Germany to take the initiative on land herself was seen as implied in the statement that contact had been broken with the enemy in several places because the French withdrew into France beyond the border.

In emphasizing the "purely local" nature of the fighting, the high command said that, save for one instance only small detachments "mostly weaker than one company," were in conflict. The war strength of a German company is about 200 men.

The communique gave German losses in the west from the beginning to last Tuesday as 196 dead, 356 wounded and 114 missing.

It listed taken as 25 French officers and 664 non-commissioned officers and men.

Planes Shot Down

Eleven airplanes were lost on the western front, it said, while a total of 60 enemy planes were shot down — 48 French and 12 British.

The high command declared that the initial phase of the war, which, it said, was "provoked by French initiative," had not produced any "serious fighting" at any point in the west.

Summing up developments in the campaign to date, the communique added:

"The purely local fighting took place in a flat stretch near the French border in front of our west wall. With one single exception on either side, only small detach-

Government Buys Columbiana Apples

LISBON, Oct. 19.—The federal surplus commodities corporation announced today it was buying two additional carloads of apples from Columbiana county growers. Three carloads previously were taken to the commodities warehouse at East Palestine.

For each bushel sold to the government, for distribution to relief clients, the orchardist must divert a bushel. Charles Adams, Middle-town township grower who has a large orchard, said he was leaving his bushel on the tree, rather than make the apples into cider. This, he explained, saved the cost of picking the fruit.

Automobile Takes Ball For Touchdown

The intramural athletic department of Salem High school is minus one football today, not because it was stolen, but because fate ruled that it should drop on an automobile which was passing Reilly stadium yesterday when a touch football game was in progress.

The ball had been passed by one of the intramural players. The intended receiver missed the catch and the ball bounded out of the playing field and into the street where it landed between the hood and fender of a passing car.

The driver of the car apparently failed to see the ball or hear it light. He continued on his way. One of the players quickly jumped on a bicycle and started in pursuit of the auto, but he lost the trail before going very far. So, if you found a football on your car, the High school will be grateful if you return it to the Memorial building.

Turkey Won Over by British

According to word from Istanbul, Turkey has refused to agree to demands made by Russia during negotiations at Moscow and will sign an agreement with Britain. The negotiations with Moscow, it is said, failed because the Soviet demands were contrary to Turkish security. The photo above shows the Turkish military mission in session in London. The mission has been awaiting the outcome of the Moscow talks before proceeding with definite commitments.

SALVATION ARMY WORK OUTLINED

Activities For Quarter Are Listed At Meeting Here

The quarterly report of the Salem branch of the Salvation Army was submitted at a luncheon meeting of the advisory board at the Hotel Lape yesterday.

Attending the meeting was Brig. William A. Spatz, who gave a short talk in which he expressed the belief that the future success of America depends upon doing something for the youth of today.

W. L. Hart served as acting chairman for the meeting in the absence of David Bevan. Other advisory board members present were Lyman Goodballet, T. E. Miller, T. Emerson Smith, Atty. W. Edmund Peters and Ray Pearce.

Capt. R. L. Raines, officer in charge of local work, and his assistant, Lieut. Kenneth Merrifield, submitted the report for July, August and September.

Relief Work Listed

Relief work for this period included giving 432 articles, valued at $342.50, to local families, and 266 articles, valued at $121.75, to transient families.

Families were provided 343 garments, 58 pairs of shoes, 27 pieces of furniture and four orders of groceries, while transients were given 142 meals, 67 lodgings, 42 garments and 15 pairs of shoes.

The local organization conducted 173 religious services during the three months, attended by 2,135 persons. The religious work included 37 open air services, 82 indoor services, and 54 young people's indoor services.

Sixteen hobby classes, attended by 167 persons, were conducted, while 87 hours were devoted to table tennis in which 396 boys participated. Other work included 245 office interviews, 54 visits to clients, and 221 hours of visitation.

Lisbon Rd. Traffic Is Rd. Retored Today

Work started today on the widening and black-topping of the Lisbon road, extending from Salem south to McCracken's corners.

The Hays Construction Co. of Bellefontaine is employing a spreader which covers the entire width of the road. This necessitates closing the road to traffic and vehicular traffic is being detoured by the way of the Depot road across a county road to McCracken's corners.

Providing weather is favorable, the resurfacing job is expected to be completed within a week. Until that time, however, the road will be closed just south of Salem, it was explained by George Gonzales of Lisbon, resident engineer.

Barn At Hanoverton Destroyed By Fire

Fire, which the owner believed was of incendiary origin, destroyed a large barn on the farm of Oliver Johns, two miles south of Hanoverton, on the Kensington-Salineville road, at 2 a. m. today.

The Salem fire department was called but Fire Chief Vincent Malloy said the department could not go that far away from the city.

The barn burned to the ground the flames, for a time, threatening the house nearby. The loss included hay, grain and some machinery.

Verdict Withheld In Traffic Deaths

Coroner Arnold Devon today withheld his verdict in the fatal traffic accident on Route 14, near Columbiana, early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Lee George Yates of Youngstown and Lewis Clark, aged six months, were killed instantly when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into the rear of a truck, which had stopped.

The conditions of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark, parents of the dead child, were reported improved at City hospital today. Their daughter, Elizabeth, 2, escaped with minor injuries.

REPORT QUAKE IN OHIO TODAY

Seismograph At University Records Tremor; Earthquake Also Felt In New England

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—Father Joseph S. Joliat, seismologist at John Carroll university, reported an earthquake of slight intensity, probably in southwestern Ohio, was recorded on university instruments starting at 6:58 a. m. today.

The tremor lasted about nine minutes, Father Joliat said. A woman residing east of Cleveland reported the quake was felt at her home.

Father Joliat said the tremor possibly was centered near Sidney, where rock formations were held responsible for two slight quakes in that area in March, 1937.

Sidney residents reported, however, that they had felt no disturbance.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Earth tremors, described by seismologists as "severe" were felt today in several sections of northern New England but no serious damage was reported.

Seismologists at Weston college in a preliminary survey said the shocks were "rather severe" and were "not so far away."

The records of the tremors, on first examination, were confused, they declared.

The shocks were felt from shortly before 7 a. m. until about 7:05 a. m. Communities reporting that buildings shook and dishes rattled were: Worcester, Springfield and Lawrence, Mass., Nashua and Keene, N. H., and Portland and Augusta, Me.

Powers Pledge Help In Event Of Aggression

Key Power Of Eastern Mediterranean To Join Allied Forces

(By Associated Press)

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 19.—Turkey, key power of the eastern Mediterranean, signed a mutual assistance pact with Britain and France here at 6:15 p. m. (11:15 a. m., E. S. T.) today.

The treaty was the outcome of British-Turkish and French-Turkish undertakings earlier this year to assist each other "in the event of an act of aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area."

It contained a clause permitting Turkey to remain neutral in event of a war among France, Great Britain and Soviet Russia.

Signature of the treaty took place in the presence of General Maxime Weygand, commander in chief of French forces in the eastern Mediterranean, and Lieut. Gen. Archibald P. Wavell, British middle east commander.

The pact contained the same terms as had been agreed upon the end of last month before Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu went to Moscow for the negotiations which finally ended in failure this week.

Any pressure Soviet Russia may have brought on Turkey to alter her relations with the two western powers therefore was fruitless.

FOREIGN SUBS BANNED BY U.S.

"Belligerent" Submarines Must Stay Clear Of American Waters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Submarines of belligerent nations have been prohibited from entering American ports or territorial waters except when unforeseen circumstances, such as storms, force them to take shelter.

President Roosevelt proclaimed the ban last night by putting into effect a provision of the neutrality law. Armed merchant vessels of warring nations still may enter American ports and waters.

Mr. Roosevelt said that the ban would serve to maintain peace and promote American security. Submarines forced to enter American waters, he said, should do so with their conning towers and superstructures above water and with their flags flying.

Experts explained that the proclamation would permit the entrance of belligerent submarines during violent storms when their machinery was damaged or when they suffered loss of fuel or provisions. In such cases, the vessel could not remain in an American port for more than 24 hours.

The commander of a submarine violating the proclamation could be tried under the neutrality law and if convicted could be sentenced to five years in prison and a fine of $10,000. The proclamation did not specify what would be done with an offending submarine, but experts said that it could be interned.

American territorial waters are defined as those within three miles of shore. Hence, any belligerent submarine forced to take shelter must rise to the surface when it reaches the three-mile limit.

Harold M. Williams, Salem High school principal, was elected president of group nine of the Ohio High School Principals' association at a meeting Wednesday night in the administration building at Mount Union college.

G. L. Powell, principal of Leetonia High school, was elected vice president, while G. A. Thomas, principal of Brewster High school, was named secretary-treasurer.

Group nine of the principals' organization comprises Columbiana, Stark and Carroll counties.

The group will meet monthly at the college, discussing in particular student activities programs. Last year the general topic of discussion during season was "Guidance."

Dean Melvin Hyde and several other members of the Mount Union faculty usually join the principals in their discussions.

The state association comprises 23 groups which meet from time to time. The state meeting was held recently at Columbus when Walter Peoples of Columbus was elected president.

First Six Weeks Of School Closes

The first six weeks period of school will come to an end this week for Salem public school students. Report cards will be distributed next Wednesday.

A pep rally for the Salem-Wellsville football game, here Friday night, will be held in the High school auditorium tomorrow.

The Hi-Ti sponsored a "penny dance" in the High school gymnasium after school today.

Second Robbery

LISBON, Oct. 19.—Completing unfinished work, thieves who looted the bulk station of the Standard Oil Co. near Columbiana Sunday night, returned Tuesday night for another truck load, breaking the lock on the same door which had been repaired, according to the sheriff's office.

The loot in the latest robbery was estimated at between $75 and $100 and consisted of 10 second line tires and tubes and a quantity of headlight bulbs. Company auditors had just completed a check on merchandise stolen Sunday night, and placed the loss at about $800.

had pushed the French rear guard across the border between the Saar river and the Hornbach-Eltche road.In other sectors of the western front, the communique said, there was only local artillery and patrol activity.Contact with the enemy in several places was broken, it was added, because German troops did not cross the border in following up the French withdrawal.War Scope Minimized
The whole tone of the communique was to minimize the scope of the war to date—in size of engagements, in territory involved and in casualties—and to emphasize in effect that the front lines now were the peace-time boundaries.What war there had been on the western front it laid to French initiative, and an unwillingness by Germany to take the initiative on land herself was seen as implied in the statement that contact had been broken with the enemy in several places because the French withdrew into France beyond the border.In emphasizing the "purely local" nature of the fighting, the high command said that, save for one instance only, small detachments "mostly weaker than one company," were in conflict. The war strength of a German company is about 200 men.The communique gave German losses in the west from the beginning to last Tuesday as 196 dead, 356 wounded and 114 missing.It listed taken as 25 French officers and 664 non-commissioned officers and men.Planes Shot Down Eleven airplanes were lost on the western front, it said, while a total of 60 enemy planes were shot down —48 French and 12 British.The high command declared that the initial phase of the war, which it said, was "provoked by French initiative," had not produced any "serious fighting" at any point in the west.Summing up developments in the campaign to date, the communique added:"The purely local fighting took place in a flat stretch near the French border in front of our west wall. With one small exception on either side, only small detach-

Government Buys
Columbiana ApplesLISBON, Oct. 19.—The federal surplus commodities corporation announced today it was buying two additional carloads of apples from Columbiana county growers. Three carloads previously were taken to the commodities warehouse at East Palestine.For each bushel sold to the government, for distribution to relief camps, the orchardist must divert a bushel. Charles Adams, Middletown township grower who has a large orchard, said he was leaving the bushels in the tree, rather than make the apples into cider. This, he explained, saved the cost of picking the fruit.Automobile Takes Ball For TouchdownThe intramural athletic department of Salem High school is minus one football today, not because it was stolen, but because fate ruled that it should drop on an automobile which was passing Reilly stadium yesterday when a touch football game was in progress.
The ball had been passed by one of the intramural players.
The intended receiver missed the catch and the ball bounded out of the playing field and into the street where it landed between the hood and fender of a passing car.The driver of the car apparently failed to see the ball or hear it light. He continued on his way. One of the players quickly jumped on a bicycle and started in pursuit of the auto, but he lost the trail before going very far. So, if you found a football on your car, the High school will be grateful
if you return it to the Memorial building.FISH DINNERS SERVED ALL

Turkey Won Over by British

According to word from Istanbul, Turkey has refused to agree to demands made by Russia during negotiations at Moscow and will sign an agreement with Britain. The negotiations with Moscow, it is said, failed because the Soviet demands were contrary to Turkish security. The photo above shows the Turkish military mission in session in London. The mission has been awaiting the outcome of the Moscow talks before proceeding with definite commitments.SALVATION ARMY

Is Detoured TodayWork started today on the wid-

Lisbon road, extending from Salem south to McCracken's corners.
The Hays Construction Co. of Bellefontaine is employing a spreader which covers the entire width of the road. This necessitates closing the road to traffic and vehicular traffic is being detoured by the way of the Depot road across a county road to McCracken's corners.Providing weather is favorable, the resurfacing job is expected to be completed within a week. Until that time, however, the road will be closed just south of Salem, it was explained by George Gon-an earthquake of slight intensity, probably in southwestern Ohio, was recorded on university instruments starting at 6:58 a. m. today.The tremor lasted about nine minutes, Father Joliat said. A wo-possibly was centered near Sidney, where rock formations were held responsible for two slight quakes in that area in March, 1937.Sidney residents reported, how-shocks were "rather severe" and were "not so far away." The re-

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 19.—Turkey, key power of the eastern Mediterranean, signed a mutual assistance pact with Britain and France here at 6:15 p. m. (11:15 a. m., E. S. T.)
today.The treaty was the outcome of British-Turkish and French-Turkish undertakings earlier this year to assist each other "in the event of an act of aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area."It contained a clause permitting Turkey to remain neutral in event of a war among France, Great Britain and Soviet Russia.Signature of the treaty took place in the presence of General Maxime Weygand, commander in chief of French forces in the eastern Mediterranean, and Lieut. Gen. Archibald P. Wavell, British middle east commander.The pact contained the same terms as had been agreed upon the end of last month before Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu went to Moscow for the negotiations which finally ended in failure this week.Any pressure Soviet Russia may have brought on Turkey to alter her relations with the two western powers therefore was fruitless.German Diplomacy Loses British diplomatic observers and virtually the entire press contended that German diplomacy was the main loser in the suspension of negotiations between Turkey and Russia.In some quarters it was regarded as a Nazi failure to shake Turkey,
"Watchdog of the Dardanelles," from the British and French front and as an event that might prove decisive in the war.Although these sources considered it also a defeat for the Soviet Union they contrasted the expression of continued friendliness between Turkey and Russia, with what they interpreted as signs of a cooling off in relations between Germany and Turkey.Pressure Falls
Germany's ambassador to Turkey, Franz Von Papen, was described in the press as having brought intense pressure on Turkey to win her from the western powers.Von Papen's departure from Ankara for Berlin yesterday, on what was said to have been a summons from his government, was reported gleefully by the British press.In some diplomatic quarters it was suggested that Russia, merely as a formality to satisfy Germany, have made last minutes demands on Turkey to abandon Britain and France.Williams To Head

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

Politicians can't blame automobile owners for being tax conscious. They made them that way.

From the word go they insisted that motorists should pay the freight for highway improvement. That was all right with the motorists. Thousands of miles of improved road were built under the arrangement.

But in the meantime politicians began to cast a roving eye on all that money. They had educated car owners to pay one out of every eight tax dollars in the United States—37 percent of the total state taxes—more than a billion and a half dollars a year.

So furtively, bit by bit, they began to nick this source of income for other purposes. From the modest beginning of 1.8 percent in 1925 they had climbed to 16 percent of automobile tax income for non-highway purposes in 1936. This was done, of course, in the name of emergency. Lots of things are done in the name of emergency.

At the New York auto show, visitors are permitted to vote on certain questions of interest. On the first day 900 out of 1,181 who took the trouble voted that all gasoline taxes and registration fees should be used for highway purposes. If the politicians are interested in handwriting on the wall, there it is. Motorists have seen the handwriting on the wall and have started to write a reply: Hands off!

RULE FOR LANDLUBBERS

As advertised, the highly specialized Nazi war machine is doing its fiercest exploding at the expense of the British. German submarines are throbbing throughout the North sea, with bombers droning overhead. In the meantime land action on the French border is picking up, but the real "blitzkrieg" is against the British navy. This is what the Allies expected.

There are claims and counter-claims, exceeded only by the roar of bombs and torpedoes finding their mark. On the face of it, the British seem to be taking a beating, but in warfare the face of things isn't to be trusted—particularly in naval warfare. There's only one safe rule of thumb for landlubbers when salt water action occurs.

That is to believe nothing, up to and including the ponderous opinions of experts. Twenty-three years ago the British and German navies fought the battle of Jutland, most momentous engagement of the World war. Each side immediately claimed it had won, whereupon the experts went to work on the problem.

At latest reports the experts still were undecided. Perhaps in a few more years they will have made up their minds and can start to figure out who licked whom in the war that began in 1939. By 1965 the matter should be reasonably clear—to them. By that time the war will be over and it won't matter two whoops to anyone but an expert what happened in the North sea.

ELMER'S LOCATED

One year ago a man named Elmer F. Andrews was sizzling under the New Deal's strongest Klieg lights. As administrator of the new wage-hour act he was the foremost star of Washington's teeming bureaucracy.

Publicity-wise, he got off to a flying start. In no time, it seemed, everybody knew the name of Elmer Andrews. The Elmer part was too good to be true. "Where's Elmer?" had been the rallying cry of the latest American Legion convention. "Where's Elmer?" shrieked the wags, and photographers took pictures of Elmer grinning behind piles of application blanks.

If anyone took a picture of Elmer now it would reveal him sitting behind the 8-ball. He got there, the grapevine says, by not doing things the way Miss Perkins, secretary of labor, wanted them done. He has been eased out of his wage-hour job and is finding temporary haven over in Reconstruction Finance Corp. When all this happened, Mr. Andrews made no comment, not even a tch, tch. But it's a tch, tch of a situation when everybody seems out of step with the government of the United States, except a corporal's guard in the thick of it.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, October 20

DESPITE definite opposition from high sources and the possibility of much to be overcome, this may be a day of drastic action, with far-reaching significance. Peculiar situations may arise, and there may be tacit or subtle agreements with diplomatic, political or fraternal organizations, or rather radical social groups. Benefits may come from such curious alliance in spite of strife and stubborn obstacles.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of rather strenuous adventures, with matters of peculiar and unfathomable inspiration calling for much tact and finesse rather than quarrels. Those in high places must be placated, or groups compromised with. Personal popularity and prestige may achieve this, but shrewdness and strategem, weapons backed up by patience and perseverance, are powerful weapons.

A child born on this day may be particularly shrewd, deep, designing and ambitious, gaining its ends by practical plans, patience and persistence. It may have a faculty for social popularity and prestige.

THE WAR TODAY

By DeWitt Mackenzie

Turkey's militant rejection of Russia's demands which observers generally regard as calculated to give Soviet control of southeastern Europe, is likely to have a vital bearing on the trend of the war.

It's been a long time since the Turk got really tough, but he certainly gave a striking display of old-time independence in defying the might of Moscow. This development marks at least a temporary swing of vast importance toward the side of the Anglo-French Allies.

By the same token it is regarded in London and Paris as a bad blow to the Nazis.

It means that the onrushing flood of Soviet influence has struck a barrier in the lower Balkans.

It may easily presage the rise of Turkey again to a commanding position in the Balkans and Near East—a Turkey which once could call the Balkan peninsula a possession, and was pretty much lord of all it surveyed.

That rather depends on the break of luck. The Turkey which played and lost with imperial Germany in the World war is making a big new gamble.

What has happened (to confine the thing to thumb-nail) is that Turkey, having rejected the Soviet proposals, is reported to be formalizing pacts with England and France for mutual aid in event of war in the eastern Mediterranean.

Provisions of the agreement are said unofficially to include Turkish assistance if the Anglo-French allies are called upon to fulfill their guarantees to protect Rumania and Greece from aggression.

On top of that Turkey intensified her precautionary military measures. Simultaneously there arrived in Turkey, General Maxime Weyand, commander-in-chief of the French forces in the eastern Mediterranean zone, and Lieut. General Archibald Wavell, commander of the British land forces in the middle east. They were accompanied by other military experts.

It was said the commanders would participate in the signing of the projected pact. Also there would be military consultations. The atmosphere was almost that of Turkey having entered the Allied camp.

The importance of this lies in the fact that Turkey is one of the most vital spots strategically on the globe. The country stands astride the Dardanelles and is internationally acknowledged gatekeeper of these famous straits which connect the Mediterranean with the otherwise land-locked Black sea.

The great Turkish dictator, Kemal Ataturk, who died a year ago after performing the miracle of putting his decadent country squarely on its feet in 15 brief years, had laid down a policy of "Turkey for the Turks," friendship with all and alliance with none.

However, I was told in Istanbul at the time of his death that he was anti-German at heart, regarded Russia with indifference, feared Italy because of her supposed ambitions to expand into Asia Minor, didn't like French policies which he regarded as too changeable, and in the long run pinned his faith to England.

FASHION'S DECREE!

Affect Of Noises On Ears, Minds Discussed By Doctor

BY LOGAN CLENDENING M. D.

I HAVE been speaking of the disadvantages of the deaf. It is only fair to remind ourselves that they have one great advantage:

They are spared the horrible cacophony of modern life—the screaming of sirens, the senseless blaring of automobile horns, neighbors' radios, shrieking ambulances, backfires, riveters, typewriters, loud talking, airplane motors, vacuum cleaners, elevator doors, whistling delivery boys! Our grandfath-ers were annoyed only by barking dogs and hoof beats in the night, squeaking shoes, church bells and snoring. We still have these besides the explosions of tires, factory whistles, screeching brakes, lawnmowers with gasoline put-puts and water running in the bathtub.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

It is not generally realized how many scientific studies have been made on the effect of noise on human health and efficiency. Dr. Dan McKenzie, in England, produced case histories to show that during the World war men were actually killed by noise alone. The shock of sound waves coming from high explosives and the discharge of large guns so affected the brain that it produced death.

Verifies Story

This gives a scientific verification of the climax of Dorothy L. Sayers' detective story, "The Nine Tailors," in which a man was killed, when he was imprisoned in a church belfry, by the mere pealing of the chimes. Dr. Donald A. Laird who has done so much in practical psychology, has proved that experienced typists expend 19 per cent more calories of bodily energy when working in an unquieted office probably because the noisy office caused a tenseness of all their muscles. He found that high-pitched soprano voices are the most annoying. Low-pitched rumbles, however, are a close second.

Free at Last

Warren K. Billings

After 23 years in prison as a participant in the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco, Warren K. Billings, the "forgotten man" in the Tom Mooney case, is a free man. Gov. Culbert L. Olson, who freed Mooney several months ago, commuted the Billings life sentence to time served.

Digestion is affected by noise. Noises slightly louder than the human voice interfere with the secretion of saliva and depress the contraction of the human stomach.

The process of digestion after a meal is measured by withdrawing a sample of the stomach's contents. Noises louder than ordinary conversation retard the secretion of the stomach juices.

Muscles contract automatically in less than one ten-thousandth of a second after a whistle has been blown; whether the person is expecting the whistle makes no difference.

Pressure of the brain jumps to four times normal when an inflated paper bag is exploded.

Much of this may be stopped, especially in places where efficiency work is being carried on, by the use of insulating material. Noise reduction is quite as important as illumination and ventilation in a modern office.

Questions and Answers

C. S.: "What foods do you suggest for a person suffering from colitis? May foods containing vinegar, large or much sugar be eaten?"

Answer—The so-called smooth diet is best for colitis. Any rough or irritating food, such as vegetable cellulose bran, whole wheat bread, spices, fried or greasy foods, pork, veal, etc. should be avoided. Sugar is all right, but lard and vinegar would come under the head of greasy or irritating ingredients.

J. R.: "I am vitally interested in securing information concerning the salt tablets to take care of salt lost in perspiring freely. Local druggists know nothing of the formula."

Answer—The formula is NaCl. It is ordinary table salt, as I tried to make clear.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

Politicians can't blame automobile owners for being tax conscious. They made them that way.

From the word go they insisted that motorists should pay the freight for highway improvement. That was all right with the motorists. Thousands of miles of improved road were built under the arrangement.

But in the meantime politicians began to cast a roving eye on all that money. They had educated car owners to pay one out of every eight tax dollars in the United States—37 percent of the total state taxes—more than a billion and a half dollars a year.

So furtively, bit by bit, they began to nick this source of income for other purposes. From the modest beginning of 1.8 percent in 1925 they had climbed to 10 percent of automobile tax income for non-highway purposes in 1936. This was done, of course, in the name of emergency. Lots of things are done in the name of emergency.

At the New York auto show, visitors are permitted to vote on certain questions of interest. On the first day 900 out of 1,181 who took the trouble voted that all gasoline taxes and registration fees should be used for highway purposes. If the politicians are interested in handwriting on the wall, there it is. Motorists have seen the handwriting on the wall and have started to write a reply: Hands off!

RULE FOR LANDLUBBERS

As advertised, the highly specialized Nazi war machine is doing its fiercest exploding at the expense of the British. German submarines are throbbing throughout the North sea, with bombers dropping overhead. In the meantime land action on the French border is picking up, but the real "blitzkrieg" is against the British navy. This is what the Allies expected.

There are claims and counter-claims, exceeded only by the roar of bombs and torpedoes finding their mark. On the face of it, the British seem to be taking a beating, but in warfare the face of things isn't to be trusted—particularly in naval warfare. There's only one safe rule of thumb for landlubbers when salt water action occurs.

That is to believe nothing, up to and including the ponderous opinions of experts. Twenty-three years ago the British and German navies fought the battle of Jutland, most momentous engagement of the World war. Each side immediately claimed it had won, whereupon the experts went to work on the problem.

At latest reports the experts still were undecided. Perhaps in a few more years they will have made up their minds and can start to figure out who licked whom in the war that began in 1914. By 1965 the matter should be reasonably clear—to them. By that time the war will be over and it won't matter two whoops to anyone but an expert what happened in the North sea.

ELMER'S LOCATED

One year ago a man named Elmer F. Andrews was rizzling under the New Deal's strongest Klieg lights. As administrator of the new wage-hour act he was the foremost star of Washington's teeming bureaucracy.

Publicity-wise, he got off to a flying start. In no time, it seemed, everybody knew the name of Elmer Andrews. The Elmer part was too good to be true. "Where's Elmer?" had been the rallying cry of the latest American Legion convention. "Where's Elmer?" shrieked the wags, and photographers took pictures of Elmer grinning behind piles of application blanks.

If anyone took a picture of Elmer now it would reveal him sitting behind the 8-ball. He got there, the grapevine says, by not doing things the way Miss Perkins, secretary of labor, wanted them done. He has been eased out of his wage-hour job and is finding temporary haven over in Reconstruction Finance Corp. When all this happened, Mr. Andrews made no comment, not even a tech, to. But it's a tech, tech of a situation when everybody seems out of step with the government of the United States, except a corporal's guard in the thick of it.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, October 20

DESPITE definite opposition from high sources and the possibility of much to be overcome, this may be a day of drastic action, with far-reaching significance. Peculiar situations may arise, and there may be tacit or subtle agreements with diplomatic, political or fraternal organizations, or rather radical social groups. Benefits may come from such curious alliance in spite of strife and stubborn obstacles.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of rather strenuous adventures, with matters of peculiar and unfathomable inspiration calling for much tact and finesse rather than quarrels. Those in high places must be placated, or groups compromised with. Personal popularity and prestige may achieve this, but shrewdness and strategem, weapons backed up by patience and perseverance, are powerful weapons.

A child born on this day may be particularly shrewd, deep, designing and ambitious, gaining its ends by practical plans, patience and persistence. It may have a faculty for social popularity and prestige.

The War Today
By DeWitt Mackenzie

Turkey's militant rejection of Russia's demands which observers generally regard as calculated to give Soviet control of southeastern Europe, is likely to have a vital bearing on the trend of the war.

It's been a long time since the Turk got really tough, but he certainly gave a striking display of old-time independence in defying the might of Moscow. This development marks at least a temporary swing of vast importance toward the side of the Anglo-French Allies.

By the same token it is regarded in London and Paris as a bad blow to the Nazis.

It means that the onrushing flood of Soviet influence has struck a barrier in the lower Balkans. It may easily presage the rise of Turkey again to a commanding position in the Balkans and Near East—a Turkey which once could call the Balkan peninsula a possession, and was pretty much lord of all it surveyed.

That rather depends on the break of luck. The Turkey which played and lost with imperial Germany in the World war is making a big new gamble.

What has happened (to confine the thing to thumb-nail) is that Turkey, having rejected the Soviet proposals, is reported to be formalizing pacts with England and France for mutual aid in event of war in the eastern Mediterranean.

Provisions of the agreement are said unofficially to include Turkish assistance if the Anglo-French allies are called upon to fulfill their guarantees to protect Roumania and Greece from aggression.

On top of that Turkey intensified her precautionary military measures. Simultaneously there arrived in Turkey, General Maxime Weygand, commander-in-chief of the French forces in the eastern Mediterranean zone, and Lieut. General Archibald Wavell, commander of the British land forces in the middle east. They were accompanied by other military experts.

It was said the commanders would participate in the signing of the projected pact. Also there would be military consultations. The atmosphere was almost that of Turkey having entered the Allied camp.

The importance of this lies in the fact that Turkey is one of the most vital spots strategically on the globe. The country stands astride the Dardanelles and is internationally acknowledged gatekeeper of these famous straits which connect the Mediterranean with the otherwise land-locked Black sea.

The great Turkish dictator, Kemal Ataturk, who died a year ago after performing the miracle of putting his decadent country squarely on its feet in 16 brief years, had laid down a policy of "Turkey for the Turks," friendship with all and alliance with none.

However, I was told in Istanbul at the time of his death that he was anti-German at heart, regarded Russia with indifference, feared Italy because of her supposed ambitions to expand into Asia Minor, didn't like French policies which he regarded as too changeable, and in the long run pinned his faith to England.

FASHION'S DECREE!

Affect Of Noises On Ears, Minds Discussed By Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING M. D.

I HAVE been speaking of the disadvantages of the deaf. It is only fair to remind ourselves that they have one great advantage: They are spared the horrible cacophony of modern life—the screaming of sirens, the senseless blaring of automobile horns, neighbors' radios, shrieking ambulances, backfires, riveters, typewriters, loud talking, airplane motors, vacuum cleaners, elevator doors, whistling delivery boys! Our grandfathers

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ers were annoyed only by barking dogs and hoof beats in the night, squeaking shoes, church bells and snoring. We still have these besides the explosions of tires, factory whistles, screeching brakes, lawnmowers with gasoline put-puts and water running in the bathtub.

It is not generally realized how many scientific studies have been made on the effect of noise on human health and efficiency. Dr. Dan McKenzie, in England, produced case histories to show that during the World war men were actually killed by noise alone. The shock of sound waves coming from high explosives and the discharge of large guns so affected the brain that it produced death.

Verifies Story

This gives a scientific verification of the climax of Dorothy L. Sayers' detective story, "The Nine Tailors," in which a man was killed, when he was imprisoned in a church belfry, by the mere pealing of the chimes. Dr. Donald A. Laird who has done so much in practical psychology, has proved that experienced typists expend 19 per cent more calories of bodily energy when working in an unquiet office, probably because the noisy office caused a tenseness of all their muscles. He found that high-pitched soprano voices are the most annoying. Low-pitched rumbles, however, are a close second.

Free at Last

Warren K. Billings

After 23 years in prison as a participant in the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco, Warren K. Billings, the "forgotten man" in the Tom Mooney case, is a free man. Gov. Culbert L. Olson, who freed Mooney several months ago, commuted the Billings life sentence to time served.

Digestion is affected by noise. Noises slightly louder than the human voice interfere with the secretion of saliva and depress the contraction of the human stomach. The process of digestion after a test meal is measured by withdrawing a sample of the stomach contents. Noises louder than ordinary conversation retard the secretion of the stomach juices.

Muscles contract automatically in less than one ten-thousandth of a second after a whistle has been blown; whether the person is expecting the whistle makes no difference.

Pressure of the brain jumps to four times normal when an inflated paper bag is exploded. Much of this may be stopped, especially in places where efficiency work is being carried on, by the use of insulating material. Noise reduction is quite as important as illumination and ventilation in a modern office.

Questions and Answers

C. S.: "What foods do you suggest for a person suffering from colitis? May foods containing vinegar, lard or much sugar be eaten?"

Answer—The so-called smooth diet is best for colitis. Any rough or irritating food, such as vegetable cellulose, bran, whole wheat bread spicules, fried or greasy foods, pork, veal, or to be avoided. Sugar is all right, but lard and vinegar would come under the head of greasy or irritating ingredients.

J. R.: "I am vitally interested in securing information concerning the salt tablets to take care of salt lost in perspiring freely. Local druggists know nothing of the formula."

Answer—The formula is NaCl. It is ordinary table salt, as I tried to make clear.

INAUGURATION IS SCHEDULED

Ch'o Wesleyan On Friday Will Install Eighth President

DELAWARE, Oct. 19.—Educators from Ohio's colleges, high schools and boards of education, as well as alumni, trustees and Methodist ministers will be among the hundreds of visitors here for the inauguration Friday morning of Dr. Herbert J. Burgstahler as Ohio Wesleyan university's eighth president.

Visitors also will represent colleges from coast to coast. Many of the delegates will be college presidents.

All official delegates will form a grand inaugural procession at 9:30 a. m. Friday, following which the group will march into historic Gray chapel for the inauguration.

Gray chapel, almost 50 years old, was dedicated in 1893 by Governor William McKinley, later president of the United States, and the dedication was the occasion of a memorial address to another president, Rutherford B. Hayes, a native of Delaware and long a trustee of Ohio Wesleyan.

Dr. Walter A. Jessup, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, will be the principal visiting speaker. President Burgstahler, following a charge from Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Methodist church, will give the principal address.

Representatives of the state of Ohio, the city of Delaware, friends of the college who are not alumni, trustees and alumni, and others will extend greetings to Dr. Burgstahler at a noon luncheon.

At 2:30 Friday an educational conference on "The College of Tomorrow" will be held in three separate sessions for business and political leaders, the church and the schools. Among the speakers will be Dr. George F. Zook, president of the American Council on Education; Dr. Myers Y. Cooper, former governor of Ohio, and Bishop H. Lester Smith of the Methodist church.

Homecoming Saturday will feature a football game between Case and Ohio Wesleyan, and the three-day inaugural will come to a close Sunday morning with a convocation at which Bishop Francis J. McConnell, famed Methodist bishop, will speak.

BY VERA BROWN

CHAPTER XXIV

Carol, Mike and Wish sneaked out to the butler's pantry and made themselves some sandwiches. They laughed a good deal as Wish, Mike and Carol forgot how hurt and miserable she was. Carol was perched on a bench, eating olives and staring as she gave advice. "I keep telling her, Wish, she's a fool to spoil Handsome. She won't be able to manage him. I can't do a thing with Dusty if I can't put my foot down." Carol gave a fine imitation of putting the heel of her shoe on Wish's toe. The dim from the door room was increasing. "More people had come, so they had to leave their little retreat and join the rest in the noisy drawing room just then a pretty blonde appeared. 'Must we take her home?' Handsome retorted. 'He thought it was funny. Then she came straight at Mike, the pretty blonde continued: 'But Handsome, we told her we didn't want her to go along would she come just the same?' The blonde used baby talk very effectively, and everybody smiled Mike forced a laugh, too. The party continued. Mike was sitting inside. 'I'm going home, Wish,' she said at last. 'I wouldn't. I think it would be a mistake Mike.' 'I'm tired. I have to get to work early in the morning. I live in Brooklyn and I can't stay out all night! Mike's temper was up. 'Take it easy. We don't win a world's championship every day.' But the whole thing got too much for Mike. Finally she went over and pushed her way through the admiring women again and announced she had to leave. Handsome came over to her when she came out of the bedroom with her coat and hat on. 'If you do this silly thing, you'll be sorry.' His voice was flat as he tried to keep down his anger. 'Handsome, I'm tired, and bored. I'm going home. Please, let's not quarrel.' She did not explain that she felt dowdy, the only woman in the room not wearing a dinner dress. 'I haven't had time to congratulate you yet, Handsome. But it was grand!' 'Thanks.' He stood looking at her, begging her, silently, not to go. 'I can't go, Mike. You're making a hard job of me, please stay.' 'Good night!' And Mike was out the door with Wish following. Mike was weeping hysterically when she got into Wish's car. He let her cry for a long time, until they reached the Brooklyn bridge. Then he tried to soothe her. 'Wish let her out at her door, and she slipped into the hallway. When he'd gone she walked around the block many times until all the lights were dimmed in their apartment, except the one in Jimmie's room. Then she went into the house. It wasn't until the next day that Mike first heard of the girl called Iris Hansen. Mike did not see Handsome the next day. Had she known it was to be three days before she would see him, she could not have endured it. She did her work, smiled and chatted talked endlessly about Handsome's World Series triumph. And she lived from minute to minute, just waiting to hear his voice. The first morning she wrote a line note and left it in his box at the desk. When he had not come by noon, she contemplated telephoning him. But she could not endure the thought of Ray Travis being there to hear. As the newspapers came in, she ran through all of them to see just what each said about yesterday's victory. In them she came across the photograph of Handsome and a girl called Iris Hansen. In one of the tabloids, it was taken at the Inferno. It showed crowds around his table, asking for autographs, and the girl called Iris, standing beside him. Mike was more reasonable this morning. Speaking to herself, she thought in this wise: 'I must expect that. He's a famous person. He'll be photographed with many people. I must keep my head.' Six o'clock. Mike slowly checked up on her. He had not called, nor stopped to see her. Desperately she wondered if he had received her note. She could not walk across that lobby to see whether it was still in his box. The bellboys would know, and the room clerk. She couldn't! Mike waited until seven. Then she started for home. But she could not go there. She walked over to Fifth Avenue and got on top of a bus. She rode for a long time, saw up town and then back again to 42nd Street. At home they'd think she was with Handsome and they wouldn't question her. It was not after 11 when she got home. Tonight her mother was waiting. 'I wanted to talk to you, dear.' Mrs. Shannon had been dozing in her chair. She looked faded and old and Mike's heart smote her. 'Yes, Mother,' she answered. 'Tell me all about the big day. And what did you two do tonight?' Mike made some kind of answer but Mrs. Shannon sensed that something was wrong. 'I saw that photograph in the paper, Mike. That's not right.' Mike laughed. 'Mother, dear, be famous. We must expect that. He'll have a lot of pictures in the newspaper with a lot of people. We must go used to the idea. Don't you worry.' She dropped a kiss on her mother's head. 'Go to bed now, Jimmie's awake but I'll read him to sleep.' He waited up for you last night,' Mrs. Shannon said. 'I just couldn't get home any earlier. But Mike could not meet her mother's eyes. Jimmie's were sharp too. But she managed to satisfy him with her story of the game. That night after she got into bed, Mary was awake and she had to report further.

There was no escape for Mike. Next morning, before she left the house, she wrote Handsome another little note. She dropped it into the box at Times Square, knowing it would reach him by mid-afternoon at the latest. At noon, Mr. Downey asked her to take some newspapers to the board room where the receivers were meeting. That gave her a chance to walk past the desk, glance at Handsome's box, retrieve note of yesterday was still there. 'He'll call me in a little while,' Mike was getting jumpy. Tonight was the dinner given by sports fans to the winning team. There'd be speeches and presents. It was a stag dinner and Mike wanted to go home and listen to the broadcast with Jimmie. 'I'll feel better for he will call me then.' Another day, Mike fled home to hear the banquet put on the air. When Handsome's voice sounded with its pleasant laughing drawl, she had to make an excuse to leave Jimmie's bedside. She could not bear it, so natural and casual. Another day. And no word from Handsome. The people at the hotel were beginning to whisper Mike and Handsome had had trouble. She wasn't seeing him any more. Nobody dared ask her. Toward night Wish came by, stopped off to talk to her. Even Wish didn't dare ask. The hurt in her eyes was too deep. He did not have the courage. He talked about Handsome casually, as though he was unaware that there was trouble. Perhaps it was seeing it in black and white which so terrified Mike. Next morning when she got to work, somebody had left a newspaper marked for her to see. It was a paragraph in a Broadway column: 'What national hero has switched from a redhead to a blonde, now that he's famous?"

Mike tucked the paper away and went on calmly. Today Mike's panic had turned into a rage. If he came, she wouldn't talk to him! Today's newspapers showed photographs of Handsome with the new car which had been given to him.

Mike could work up a fine case of indignation against Handsome. But, she would soften soon. She looked down at her ring now and then for reassurance. She knew Handsome loved her. He couldn't get along without her. He'd said so. Then anguish would engulf her. Three days and she had not heard one word from him!

Abjectly miserable, Mike went to a movie that night, stayed through two shows, huddled up in the back row. It was a sad picture.... It was almost midnight when she came home. But the whole flat was lighted. The family was waiting up for her.

"Where have you been? Handsome's been waiting to see you!" Mary cried.

"He's got a swell new car!" called Jimmie from the bedroom. "He took Mom and Mary for a ride."

Mike could not answer. She managed to say something about working late, and went on into her room. When Mary came, she pretended she was asleep....

Next day, at his usual breakfast time, Handsome came up to her counter. Mike knew the head bell-boy edged closer to listen.

"Good morning, Mike. Sorry I missed you last night."

"I'm sorry, too." She could barely get the words out.

"Your mother invited me for supper, tonight. All right with you?"

"Yes."

"What time are you through?"

"Six, as usual."

Odd how a few little words could make the world seem so different! But when she climbed in beside him in the handsome new sedan, it was difficult for them to talk. Mike blundered in everything she tried, she was so afraid of breaking down.

"I'm so sorry, Larry. Forgive me."

"That's all right. I was furious with you, but I got over it."

"I suppose I was childish."

"You were."

His tone made Mike angry. "You'd have been angry at me under similar circumstances."

"Do I ever get mad when the boys talk to you, Mike?"

"Well, you all but broke your pitching hand on Lee!"

"You know why I socked Dusty?" Before Mike could answer, he added, "By the way, was your date last night with Ralston? He's in town. I saw him with Carol today."

"No."

"Oh!"

"Please, Larry, let's not!" Then Mike broke down. "I haven't been able to eat or sleep. I couldn't go home and face the family...." Mike's voice was so pitiful that even Handsome was dismayed.

"Mike, darling, I can't kiss you on Brooklyn Bridge in all this traffic. Move over close to me. Stop crying!" Handsome was sincerely sorry. He was appalled at the depth of Mike's suffering.

"There, put your arm through mine. Now listen. I suppose you saw that crack in the paper today? That's silly. Those girls at the Inferno will say anything to get their names in the paper. Iris is all right, just another blonde. A swell show girl!"

Handsome spoke her name so easily that Mike winced.

"She keeps calling me up, says that picture in the paper is worth a lot to her professionally." With that they dropped the subject.

Occupied By French

The communique listed the following areas occupied by the French during September:

"First, several villages lying near the French border between the Luxembourg border and Saarland; second, 'the Warndt' woods, which extend into France southwest of Saarbruecken, and third the likewise protruding region southeast of Saarbruecken between the Saar river and the Palatinate forest."

In the last named regions, from which Nazi troops had withdrawn, the communique said, the French advanced onto German soil a distance of only three to five kilometers (about two to three miles), but with "heavy losses."

"At no other points did the French even come close to the west wall," the communique added, "with the exception of regions where the west wall, as was the case at Saarbruecken, runs along the immediate neighborhood of the border."

Artillery fire to date was described as light, and limited to support of minor actions except for "nuisance fire" against advanced German fortifications.

Wellsville Eleven Just Beginning To Hit Top Stride

BENGALS FACE QUAKERS HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Storer's Team Has Shown Improvement In Last Two Games

A Wellsville team that is just beginning to round into shape will provide the opposition for Salem High school's Quakers in their fifth game of the current football season at Reilly stadium tomorrow night.

After experimenting with lineup in the Bengals early-season games, Coach Bill Storer believes he has now developed a strong defensive and offensive combination which will make trouble for the remainder of Wellsville's opponents.

Storer put on the right combination two weeks ago when the Bengals uncorked one of the major upsets of the season by defeating Dover's Crimson eleven, 13 to 7. The same Wellsville team gave a good account of itself against Toronto last week, although dropping the decision, 7 to 0.

Substitutes Freely
Storer used as high as 50 players in the Bengals' first two games of the season in an attempt to find his best combination. Because of his experiments, the Bengals had little chance to show consistent power in early season. They lost their first game to Akron Garfield, 33 to 0, and fell before an unbeaten East Palestine team, 20 to 0, in their second start.

Storer started the season with the regulars on hand, but before the opening game, three of the veterans were forced to quit practice because of injuries. Don Barlow, a regular end last year, became lost to the team when he broke his shoulder. Bill Powell, veteran center, suffered a broken arm and was forced to drop off the squad. Paul Jackson, a varsity end in 1938, developed foot trouble and was unable to practice.

The series of injuries left Storer with only two regulars from last year. Tackle Angelo Sabatino and Quarterback Bill Call. It is around these two players that his 1939 team is built.

Sabatino is the key man in the line which includes Tony Gullace and Pete Trainor at ends. Paul Sabatino at left tackle, Russell Corliss and "Bunny" Ference at guards and Eddie Ryan at center.

Call Mainstay
The backfield, with Call as the mainstay, includes Charles Campbell and Charles French at halfbacks and Dick Brown at fullback. Brown is considered one of the finest developed backs Storer has ever developed.

The Bengals employ a tricky offense using a modified double-wing back formation, featuring snappy ball-handling. Storer was formerly an advocate of the Notre Dame style, but discarded this system shortly after the start of the season because his team did not pack the power the Notre Dame offense requires.

The Bengals have had little success with passes, a lack of good receivers handicapping their aerial attack. They boast several good choppers, but Storer has not yet uncovered dependable receivers.

GOUGH'S GRID FANS MAY SEE PASSING DUELS

New York Has Corner On Aerial Thrills In Games Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Eastern football fanatics looking forward to a weekend that should contain as much "drammer" as a dime novel were generally agreed that Gough had cornered most of the day's promised aerial thrills.

The three games that will draw the crowds into the Polo Grounds, Yankee stadium, and Baker field probably will be decided by aerial thrills—if past performances mean anything.

At Baker field, Columbia and Princeton meet in what figures to be a grand passing duel between two of the ablest exponents of the forward pass—Dave Allerdice and Les Stanczyk.

The outcome of the game may definitely depend on which of those two pitchers is getting the best catching Saturday afternoon.

The Auburn Plainsmen also have a talented passer to use against Manhattan in another major metropolitan clash. He is Carl Happer whose pass to Dick McGowan blasted Mississippi State's hopes for a Southern conference title, 7-0 last Saturday.

Oppose Happer

Opposed to him will be John Supulski, Eddie Fay and Bill Proch, who have capably handled the Jasper pitching so far this year.

The threat of Allerdice has kept the Columbia Lions awake at night—but has also added to the game's appeal. With Allerdice doing most of the pitching, the Tigers made 154 yards against Cornell last week, although they lost, 20-7. With that in mind, Coach Lou Little has drilled his charges long and hard this week on pass defense—a thing that the Lions' opponents used to do when Lou had Sid Luckman as his pitching ace.

In the third big town game, NYU's Violets have one of the east's best passers in Eddie Boell. The husky back will have to have his arm in perfect shape and his receivers glue-fingered if the Violets are to stop the unbeaten march of Carnegie Tech.

For the Tartans have a country fair passer in George Muha, a major factor in the success of the Klitties to date.

Columbiana Faces Louisville Squad

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 19.—Coach Al Beach's Columbiana High riders will endeavor to climb back into the victory column when they tangle with Louisville at Firestone park here Saturday.

Columbiana's record of one win, one tie, and two defeats is far from impressive. Last week while Louisville was losing to Austin-town, Fitch, Louisville was beating Boardman. Coach Beach's eleven will be out to avenge a 21-6 defeat suffered last year at the hands of the Tri-County league champions.

Five games remain on the Columbiana schedule. They are: Louisville, Boardman, Sebring, East Palestine, and Lisbon. All are Tri-County games.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Suspicion out west that Southern California may kick itself right out of the Rose Bowl.... Bob Pastor fights somebody—probably Billy Conn—in the Garden, Dec. 15.... Dick Harlow says that talk about him leaving Harvard is simply rumor. Yeah?... How can the Red brass hats be sitting up night brewing deals (as reported) with Bill McKechie hunting up in Canada?... Syracuse must mean business. They sent three regulars to the hospital yesterday just practicing for Duke.... The corn belt dough says Minnesota will take either Ohio State or Michigan.

Intercepted Letter

They can't do that to him! One of our leading football selectors (not Dr. Herb Barker of this clinic) wrote a southern coach to this effect: "You lost last week and made my system look bad.... Please make up for it by winning this week.... Remember, I am an alumnus of your school!"

Hope somebody will spike the rumor here that Whitlow Wyatt, Dodger mound ace, isn't recuperating as rapidly as Durocher and MacPhail believe.... Lou Diamond, the honest brackman, has caught on as matchmaker for Larry Kaplan's Baltimore club.

We Should Hope Not

When Bucky Walters, who won 27 games for the Reds, was voted the most valuable player in the league, the N. Y. Post noted: "No other converted third baseman ever had such a pitching season."

When Emmett Salter, Auburn's drum thumper, arrived to steam up the Auburn-Manhattan game, the hotel parked him in the room on the 13th floor.... You should have seen the Colonel-a-movin' out of there.... Sid Luckman, who arrives tomorrow with the Chicago Bears, will go up to Columbia and give his ex-playmates a pep talk for the Princeton game.... Notre Dame has taken the play away from Northwestern, Illinois and Chicago in the Chicago papers.

Today's Guest Star

MIDWEST, EAST ARE REVIVING DROPKICK ART

Nile Knick Of Iowa Is Leading Exponent Of Ancient Play

By BILL WHITE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The east and the midwest, two sections that already have given football its outstanding dropkickers, are threatening to produce artists like Harvard's Charley Brickley, Illinois' Frosty Peters and Colorado college's Dutch Clark, who may re-introduce a play almost as extinct as "East Lynn."

The dropkick, largely because it's slower than a placement (proven by A. A. Stagg over a period of years' experimentation) and partly because dropkickers have been and not made, has faded from the football scene in recent years, but a survey today shows that it's not quite so extinct as the dodo bird.

Apparently the game's best exponent of the art is Nile Knick, Iowa's grand all-around back. Nile already has booted five points after touchdowns against South Dakota, two against Indiana and one against Michigan via the dropkick route—and that just about makes him the kingpin of the kickers.

Another Star

Pressing him for midwestern honors is Hallback Harry Clark of the Danville, Ind., Central Normal team. Clark's three dropkicks after touchdowns against Defiance represent the only three made in 89 games involving Ohio college teams this fall.

Farther out west is a lad by the name of Chet Gibbens, a sub quarterback at Kansas U., who drop-kicked his eight straight extra points Saturday against Colorado State. He split the posts six times last year and has done it twice so far this campaign. He's too little to play regularly for K. U. (150 pounds) but Gwynn Henry wouldn't trade him for 225-pound tackle. One of his boots beat Texas 19-16 a year ago.

Buster Riddle, New Mexico Normal quarterback, dropkicked an extra point and then a field goal to beat the Regis Rangers of Denver 10-7, and Walter Kellmoff of Greeley State in the Rocky Mountain conference handed a Dutch Clark special against Johnny Mason's School of Mines team, although the Miners won, 6-3.

In the other hotbed of the dropkick, the east, the nimble-toed booter seems to be Ernie Savignano of Brown, a soph who has split the bars four times in extra point conversions. His teammate, Guard Arnold Egert has kicked two.

Three Specialists

New York University's Violets have a monopoly with three specialists in the dropkick—Bob Connolly, Eddie Boell and Joe Consagra.

Otherwise the report is pretty glum for those who have exciting memories of one of the earlier era's prettier plays.

In the Southeastern conference, one Eugene (Cowboy) Shaw of Georgia Tech stands between the kick and its undeserved oblivion. He has kicked a pair of conversions without having anybody hold the ball for him.

Clarence Olson of the St. Olaf Olsons beat Luther college 3-0 with a 15-yard dropkick in the closing seconds to keep the art alive around Minneapolis.

But the Southern conference, the southwest and the Pacific coast report absolutely no dropkickers in sight so far.

Down Virginia way there is a schoolboy sensation—sort of a Bill De Correvont of the dropkickers—who is burning 'em between the bars. He is James Dishner, 150 pound end on the Richmond Marmaduke Home team. He has attempted nine dropkicks for extra points—and has made every one of them.

New Waterford To Battle Fairfield

NEW WATERFORD, Oct. 19.—A six-man football game is scheduled to be played tomorrow afternoon between Fairfield and New Waterford at Firestone park in Columbiana. Gilbert Weikart is coach at New Waterford.

Six-man football is rapidly gaining popularity in the smaller schools of the country. It is designed to help the schools which do not have enough players or equipment to outfit a regular 11-man team.

WILDCATS HAVE YET TO SCORE IN GRID GAME

Northwestern Has Been Disappointment Of Big Ten Season

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 19.—They might begin relaying a few of the tears being shed on the midway to neighboring Northwestern campus. Figures disclose that for all Harvard's 61-0 rout of Chicago last week, the Maroons at least own a victory at this point of the football season and twice have crossed an opponent's goal line.

Not so Northwestern. For all their pre-season acclaim as a Big Ten title contender—this despite Coach Lynn Waldorf's admonishing finger—the Wildcats are without victory in two games and have yet to score.

Nor does mention of Wisconsin, their foe of the week, bring a blush of modest confidence that victory may be just around the corner. The Wildcats well remember last year's 20-13 loss to the Badgers. It came after their Minnesota triumph and just when they had reason to speculate on a conference championship.

Wisconsin, too, has been something of a disappointment this season. In fact, Badger experts in one particular game led Coach Harry Stuhldreher to remark "I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it."

Drill On Passes

Ohio State drilled successfully on forward and lateral passes preparatory to departing for Minnesota. The Gophers, in turn, worked against tricky Buckeye aerials while polishing their running game. Coach Fritz Crieser, disappointed in Michigan's workout, said "everyone says we are going to massacre the Maroons and as a result we aren't making progress." Chicago, however, has taken Saturday's drubbing for granted and has begun experimenting for future games.

Illinois scrimmaged in preparation for Indiana, which worked on blocking as Coach Ed McMillin moved Cleo Maddox to first string right half. Purdue, preparing for its non conference tilt with Michigan State, discovered it will be without the services of Jack Brown, who aggravated an old injury last week. Iowa held a scrimmage although the Hawkeyes have an open date Saturday. Ben Sheridan scored twice as Notre Dame's varsity trimmed the reserves in a scrimmage for the Navy game at Cleveland.

Champion Armstrong Hopes To Retire And Write Verse

By GAIL FOWLER

SEATTLE, Oct. 19.—Homicide Henry Armstrong, the busy little Negro welterweight champion who was poet laureate of his St. Louis High school 10 years ago, hopes to hang up his gloves in one more year.

Then he'll retire to a life of beating out rhythm in verse instead of on somebody's ribs. He wants to write, both poetry and prose. A bard rather than a bombardier. A mitt-singer turned minnesinger.

"I figure in one more year I'll have enough money to bring me security. Yeah, social security," he grinned. "Then I'm going to quit. I haven't had much time for writing, what with all this fighting. But after I retire I'll have plenty of time for it."

And Henry has had plenty of fighting. The thick-chested, spindly-legged little puglist estimates he's fought 280 times in the last 19 years. He's 26 now, and started fighting at 16. He's here to defend his crown in a 15-rounder tomorrow night against Richie Fontaine of Missoula, Mont.

Tuesday his manager, Eddie Mead, announced Henry would scrap Cefterio Garcia, two-state claimant to the middleweight crown at Los Angeles, Feb. 22.

Armstrong is the only fighter ever to hold the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns simultaneously. He already holds a decision over Garcia and declares he can beat the bolo-punching Filipino again.

Duck Sanctuaries At Guilford Lake
Three duck sanctuaries covering approximately 35 acres in the bays of Guilford lake, in which duck hunting will be forbidden, have been established.

With the opening of duck season at 7 a. m. Monday, this part of the lake will be well posted so that hunters can not mistake it, in order that the fowls may be well protected, County Game Warden Lon Boring said today.

Guilford lake offers the best duck hunting of any place in Columbiana county, Boring says, with thousands of birds to be taken. Hunting will be permitted under the law only between 7 in the morning and 4 in the afternoon.

All hunters must have a federal duck stamp, and a plug in pump guns so that the gun will not hold more than three shots.

Duquesne Depends On Its Heavy Line
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Underdog Duquesne bases its hope of checking Pitt's Panthers Saturday on a stalwart, heavy line and the magic kicking toes of Carl Nerby, giant tackle who stood behind his goal line and got off a 99-yard boot in last year's encounter between the city rivals.

While Buff Donnell puts his Dukes through secret drills, reports from Pitt's camp are that Coach Charley Bowser's strategy board is somewhat worried about Duquesne's aerial offense, flashed but little so far this season. Donnell is reported spending plenty of time shaping his defense against the dangerous Panther air attack.

Guilford, Mahoning Waters Receive Fish

A rack load of fish from the state hatcheries at Rockwell lake, near Akron, was received in Columbiana county Wednesday afternoon, the second equipment to be received here within a week.

Six hundred blue gills and 25 bass were placed in the waters of Guilford lake, and 300 blue gills, 420 catfish and 25 suckers in Little Mahoning river in the vicinity of North Georgetown.

Last year there were 47,000 matured fish from state hatcheries placed in Columbiana county lakes and streams and this number will be exceeded by several thousand this year, the number of bass especially to be increased.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Eastern football fans looking forward to a weekend that should contain as much "drammer" as a dime novel were generally agreed that Gougham had cornered most of the day's promised aerial thrills.

The three games that will draw the crowds into the Polo Grounds, Yankee stadium, and Baker field probably will be decided by aerial thrusts—if past performances mean anything.

At Baker field, Columbia and Princeton meet in what figures to be a grand passing duel between two of the ablest exponents of the forward pass—Dave Allerdice and Les Stanczyk.

The outcome of the game may definitely depend on which of those two pitchers is getting the best catching Saturday afternoon.

The Auburn Plainsmen also have a talented passer to use against Manhattan in another major metropolitan clash. He is Carl Happer whose pass to Dick McGowan blasted Mississippi State's hopes for a Southern conference title, 7-0 last Saturday.

Oppose Happer Opposed to him will be John Supulski, Eddie Fay and Bill Proch, who have capably handled the Jasper pitching so far this year.

The threat of Allerdice has kept the Columbia Lions awake at night—but has also added to the game's appeal. With Allerdice doing most of the pitching, the Tigers made 154 yards against Cornell last week, although they lost, 20-7. With that in mind, Coach Lou Little has drilled his charges long and hard this week on pass defense—a thing that the Lions' opponents used to do when Lou had Sid Luckman as his pitching ace.

In the third big town game, NYU's Violets have one of the east's best passers in Eddie Boell. The husky back will have to have his arm in perfect shape and his receivers glue-fingered if the Violets are to stop the unbeaten march of Carnegie Tech.

For the Tarlans have a country fair passer in George Muha, a major factor in the success of the Kilites to date.

Columbiana Faces Louisville Squad

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 19.—Coach Al Beach's Columbiana High grid-ders will endeavor to climb back into the victory column when they tangle with Louisville at Firestone park here Saturday.

Columbiana's record of one win, one tie, and two defeats is far from impressive. Last week while Columbiana was losing to Austin-town Fitch, Louisville was beating Boardman. Coach Beach's eleven will be out to avenge a 21-6 defeat suffered last year at the hands of the Tri-County league champions.

Five games remain on the Columbiana schedule. They are: Louisville, Boardman, Sebring, East Palestine, and Lisbon. All are Tri-County games.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Suspicion out west that Southern California may kick itself right out of the Rose Bowl.... Bob Pastor fights somebody—probably Billy Conn—in the Garden, Dec. 15.... Dick Harlow says that talk about him leaving Harvard is simply rumor. Yeah?... How can the Red brass have been sitting up night brewing deals (as reported) with Bill McKee hunting up in Canada?... Syracuse must mean business. They sent three regulars to the hospital yesterday just practicing for Duke.... The corn belt dough says Minnesota will take either Ohio State or Michigan.

Intercepted Letter They can't do that to him! One of our leading football selectors (not Dr. Herb Barker of this clinic) wrote a southern coach to this effect: "You lost last week and made my system look bad.... Please make up for it by winning this week.... Remember, I am an alumnus of your school."

Hope somebody will spike the rumor here that Whitlow Wyatt, Dodger mound ace, isn't recuperating as rapidly as Durocher and MacPhail believe.... Lou Diamond, the honest brakeman, has caused a matchmaker for Larry Kaplan's Baltimore club.

We Should Hope Not When Buddy Walters, who won 27 games for the Reds, was voted the most valuable player in the league, the N. Y. Post noted: "No other converted third baseman ever had such a pitching season."

When Emmett Salter, Auburn's drum thumper, arrived to steam up the Auburn-Manhattan game, the hotel parked him in the room on the 13th floor.... You should have seen the Colonel a-movin' out of there.... Sid Luckman, who arrives tomorrow with the Chicago Bears, will go up to Columbia and give his ex-playmates a pep talk for the Princeton game.... Notre Dame has taken the play away from Northwestern, Illinois and Chicago in the Chicago papers.

Today's Guest Star Nixon C. Denton, Cincinnati Times-Star, "Turks ready to mobilize," says a headline.... Perhaps as a protest against observing Thanksgiving earlier....

12 OHIOANS ON RIVAL SQUADS

Homecoming Touch Given Notre Dame-Navy Grid Game

BY FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—When Notre Dame and Navy clash Saturday at Cleveland, the big grid classic will feature 12 members of the rival squads, for seven Irish and five Midgies are from the Buckeye state.

On the Notre Dame squad are Johnny Kelleher, the Lorain boy whose placekick beat Purdue 3 to 0, and whose point after touchdown won Southern Methodist by 20 to 19. Along with him on the Irish team are Joe Thesing, the No. 1 fullback from Cincinnati; Joe Prokop, the former Cleveland Cathedral Latin star who now is a sophomore halfback; Chuck Riffle, the first string guard from Warren; Jim Brutz, left tackle also from Warren; Bob Leonard of Cincinnati, fullback, and Jack Finerman of Columbus, center.

Four of Navy's five Ohioans come from the northern portion of the state. The quintet consists of three from Akron, Victor A. Blandin, halfback who prepped at St. Vincents; John T. Hill, 185-pound guard who attended Buchtel High; Richard W. Shafer, first string halfback from Oberlin, and David C. Wife of Portsmouth, a senior guard. Blandin is a junior, while Schmitz and Hill are sophomores.

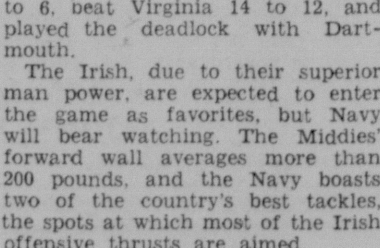

Both Unbeaten The two Titans have played 12 games with Notre Dame winning nine and the Midgies three. Both are undefeated this year, although Navy has a scoreless tie with Dartmouth on its record. The Irish have won three contests this season by a total margin of seven points, beating Purdue 3 to 0; Georgia Tech 17 to 14, and Southern Methodist 20 to 19. The Navy talk to over William and Mary 31 to 6, beat Virginia 14 to 12, and played the deadlock with Dartmouth.

The Irish, due to their superior man power, are expected to enter the game as favorites, but Navy will bear watching. The Midgies' forward wall averages more than 200 pounds, and the Navy boasts two of the country's best tacklers, the spots at which most of the Irish offensive thrusts are aimed.

MIDWEST, EAST ARE REVIVING DROPKICK ART

Nile Knick Of Iowa Is Leading Exponent Of Ancient Play

By BILL WHITE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The east and the midwest, two sections that already have given football its outstanding dropkickers, are threatening to produce artists like Harvard's Charley Brickley, Illinois' Frosty Peters and Colorado college's Dutch Clark, who may re-introduce a play almost as extinct as "East Lynn."

The dropkick, largely because it's slower than a placement (proven by A. A. Stagg over a period of years), experimentation, and partly because dropkickers must be born and not made, has faded from the football scene in recent years, but a survey today shows that it's not quite so extinct as the dodo bird.

Apparently the game's best exponent of the art is Nile Knick, Iowa's grand all-around back. Nile already has booted five points after touchdowns against South Dakota, two against Indiana and one against Michigan via the dropkick route—and that just about makes him the kingpin of the kickers.

Another Star Pressing him for midwestern honors is Halfback Harry Clark of the Danville, Ind., Central Normal team. Clark's three dropkicks after touchdowns against Defiance represent the only three made in 89 games involving Ohio college teams this fall.

Farther out west is a lad by the name of Chet Gibbens, a sub quarterback at Kansas U., who dropkicked his eight straight extra points Saturday against Colorado State. He split the posts six times last year and has done it twice so far this campaign. He's too little to play regularly for K. (150 pounds) but Gibbens wouldn't trade him for 225-pound tackle. One of his boots beat Texas 19-18 a year ago.

Buster Riddle, New Mexico Normal quarterback, dropkicked an extra point and then a field goal to beat the Regis Rangers of Denver 10-7, and Walter Kellmoff of Greeley State in the Rocky Mountain conference banged a Dutch Clark special against Johnny Mason's School of Mines team, although the Miners won, 6-3.

In the other hotbed of the dropkick, the east, the nimblest-toed booter seems to be Ernie Savignano of Brown, a soph who has split the bars four times in extra point conversions. His teammate, Guard Arnold Exert, has kicked two.

Three Specialists New York university's Violets have a monopoly with three specialists in Bob Connolly, Eddie Boell and Joe Consagra.

Otherwise the report is pretty glum for those who have exciting memories of one of the earlier era's prettier plays.

In the Southeastern conference, only Eugene (Cowboy) Shaw of Georgia Tech stands between the kick and its undeserved oblivion. He has kicked a pair of conversions without having anybody hold the ball for him.

Clarence Olson of the St. Olaf Olsons beat Luther college 3-0 with a 15-yard dropkick in the closing seconds to keep the art alive around Minneapolis.

But the Southern conference, the southwest and the Pacific coast report absolutely no dropkickers in sight so far.

Down Virginia way there is a schoolboy sensation—sort of a Bill De Correvont of the dropkickers—who is burning 'em between the bars. He is James Dishner, 150 pound end on the Richmond Manassas Home team. He has attempted nine dropkicks for extra points—and has made every one of them.

Duck Sanctuaries At Guilford Lake

Three duck sanctuaries covering approximately 35 acres in the bays of Guilford lake, in which duck hunting will be forbidden, have been established.

With the opening of duck season at 7 a. m. Monday, this part of the lake will be well posted so that hunters can not mistake it, in order that the fowls may be well protected, County Game Warden Lon Boring said today.

Guilford lake offers the best duck hunting of any place in Columbiana county, Boring says, with thousands of birds to be taken. Hunting will be permitted under the law only between 7 in the morning and 4 in the afternoon.

All hunters must have a federal duck stamp, and a plug in pump guns so that the gun will not hold more than three shots.

Duquesne Depends On Its Heavy Line

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Underdog Duquesne bases its hope of checking Pitt's Panthers Saturday on a stalwart, heavy line and the magic kicking toes of Carl Nerby, giant tackle who stood behind his goal line and got off a 90-yard boot in last year's encounter between the city rivals.

While Buff Donnell puts his Dukes through sweat drills, reports from Pitt's camp are that Coach Charley Bowser's strategy board is somewhat worried about Duquesne's aerial offensive, flashed but little so far this season. Donnell is reported spending plenty of time shaping his defense against the dangerous Panther air attack.

WILDCATS HAVE YET TO SCORE IN GRID GAME

Northwestern Has Been Disappointment Of Big Ten Season

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 19.—They might begin relaying a few of the tears being shed on the midway to neighboring Northwestern campus.

Figures disclose that for all Harvard's 61-0 rout of Chicago last week, the Maroons at least own a victory at this point of the football season and twice have crossed an opponent's goal line.

Not so Northwestern. For all their pre-season acclaim as a Big Ten title contender—this despite Coach Lynn Waldorf's admonishing finger—the Wildcats are without victory in two games and have yet to score.

Nor does mention of Wisconsin, their foe of the week, bring a blush of modest confidence that victory may be just around the corner. The Wildcats well remember last year's 20-13 loss to the Badgers. It came after their Minnesota triumph and just when they had reason to speculate on a conference championship.

Wisconsin, too, has been something of a disappointment this season. In fact, Badger experts in one particular game led Coach Harry Stuhldreher to remark "I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it."

Drill On Passes

Ohio State drilled successfully on forward and lateral passes preparatory to departing for Minnesota. The Gophers, in turn, worked against tricky Buckeye aerials while polishing their running game. Coach Fritz Crisler, disappointed in Michigan's workout, said "everyone says we are going to massacre the Maroons and as a result we aren't making progress." Chicago, however, has taken Saturday's drubbing for granted and has begun experimenting for future games.

Illinois scrimmaged in preparation for Indiana, which worked on blocking as Coach Ed McMillin moved Cleo Maddox to first string right half. Purdue, preparing for its non conference tilt with Michigan State, discovered it will be without the services of Jack Brown, who aggravated an old injury last week. Iowa held a scrimmage although the Hawkeyes have an open date Saturday. Ben Sheridan scored twice as Notre Dame's varsity trimmed the reserves in a scrimmage for the Navy game at Cleveland.

BOWLING RESULTS

A pair of victories over the Salem Label Co. enabled Tyson's West End Service Station to take over sole possession of the lead in the Pastime league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

While Tyson kepters were winning two of three games with the Label Co., the Columbiana Firestones, who were formerly tied for the lead, lost two games to the Sohoians, on the strength of their two wins over the Firestones, climbed into a third-place tie with the Columbiana Barons, who swept three games from the Citizen's Ice & Coal.

Louder V-8's advanced from seventh to sixth position by winning three games on a forfeit from Jr. C. of C. No. 2. The cellar-ranking Bossert and Famous Dairy teams rose up in revolt to spank higher-ranking opponents. Bossert's winning two out of three games with Jr. C. of C. No. 1 and the Famous taking two out of three heats with Eaton's Service of Columbiana.

Continuing to roll consistently high scores, the S. S. Kresge ladies remained out in front in the Masonic Ladies' league by sweeping three games from Mullins. The Kresge ladies, turned in a 2322 series by combining games of 751 712 and 769. Mrs. Merle Caldwell set the pace with a 481 count. ## Exchange Student Returns

Henry Van der Eb, football player (shown, left, in costume as a German student) is back at Harvard after spending his senior preparatory year as an exchange student in a Nazi military school, where he roomed with Joachim von Ribbentrop, Jr. (above), son of Germany's foreign minister. According to Van der Eb, relative merits of Germany and America were a nightly discussion, often resulting in near fist fights. Otherwise, they were quite friendly, he said, and he was often asked to dine at the Ribbentrop house, where he noticed plenty of meat, butter, eggs and other food-stuffs that good Nazis are supposed to use sparingly.

Are You Going to Vote for A PLAGUE of NEW TAXES?

Your vote is needed on November 7—your vote to stop a plague of new taxes—your vote against the most costly and destructive tax program in Ohio's history!

Wm. S. Evatt, Tax Commissioner for the Department of Taxation, estimates the Bigelow proposal will cost the people of Ohio 310 million dollars a year! How will the money be raised?

More Taxes! Gigantic New Taxes!

You'll pay a new income tax—a new real estate tax—and then, says Tax Commissioner Evatt, there will still be a shortage of 170 to 210 millions. That means—a plague of new taxes—more taxes of every kind—and new taxes you've never heard of before!

A Doubled or Tripled Sales Tax!

Do you want a higher sales tax? You'll get that, too! Maybe 6 cents, or even 9. All amusement taxes will be increased. Special higher taxes will be levied on necessities classed as "luxuries," such as radios, refrigerators, cosmetics, jewelry, tobacco, golf courses and playgrounds.

Direct and Indirect Taxes

Every commodity, every transaction, everybody's dollar will be a target for new taxes. These amendments will operate as a mortgage against everything you own.

There will be a stamp tax on documents and checks—a turnover tax on transactions in business, trade and the professions—a tax on motor freight and passenger service.

Taxes will be levied on coal mining, quarrying, timber cutting, oil extraction and other natural resource industries.

Plan Means Ruin

All this frenzied financing still will fail to raise the 310 millions of dollars required. It simply can't be done—not even by depriving the schools, the welfare agencies, and the local governments of the State aid they now receive. And that's exactly what will happen! The Bigelow payments have first call on every tax dollar collected!

Representative Government at Stake

The second Bigelow Proposal strikes at our system of representative government. It destroys present safeguards, gives control to sectional interests and small minority groups. Find out about both of these Amendments before you vote!

THE OHIO EMERGENCY COMMITTEE

B. B. Brumley, Chairman, Neil House, Columbus, Ohio

Because these amendments are vague and detailed, we hope you will write to the above address for descriptive literature. If you can spare a dollar bill to help in the fight, enclose it.

BOWLING RESULTS

A pair of victories over the Salem Label Co. enabled Tyson's West End Service Station to take over sole possession of the lead in the Pastime league at the Grate Recreation alleys last night.

While Tyson keggers were winning two of three games with the Label Co., the Columbiana Firestones, who were formerly tied for the lead, lost two games to the Sohoians to slip to second place.

The Sohoians, on the strength of their two wins over the Firestones, climbed into a third-place tie with the Columbiana Barons, who swept three games from the Citizen's Ice & Coal.

Loudon V-8's advanced from seventh to sixth position by winning three games on a forfeit from Jr. C. of C. No. 2. The cellar-ranking Bossert and Famous Dairy teams rose up in revolt to spank higher-ranking opponents. Bossert's winning two out of three games with Jr. C. of C. No. 1 and the Famous taking two out of three heats with Eaton's Service of Columbiana.

Continuing to roll consistently high scores, the S. S. Kresge ladies remained out in front in the Masonic Ladies' league by sweeping three games from Mullins.

The Kresge ladies turned in a 232 series by combining games of 751 712 and 769. Mrs. Merle Caldwell set the pace with a 484 count.

Warks managed to remain in second place, despite losing two out of three games to the Elks. The Salem News gained sole possession of third place by winning three games over the Bankerettes.

River Improvement Committee Chosen

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—The Pennsylvania commission on interstate commerce prepared today to name a committee to push ratification by the Keystone state of a pact designed to promote interstate cooperation in eliminating river pollution.

The suggestion to name the committee came yesterday as delegates to a nine-state conference on the Ohio river valley water sanitation compact heard leaders declare that Pennsylvania was the chief stumbling block to ratification.

Ohio, Indiana, New York, Illinois, and West Virginia have ratified the company and legislatures from Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee have indicated they will take action at their next sessions.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
